White Rose of York

People who supported the House of York wore a white rose emblem like this to show their allegiance, see how you can make one too:

You will need:

Approx. 11x11cm square of white felt

Approx. 9x9cm square of green felt

Felt glue

Soft pencil

Fabric scissors

Safety pin

Needle

Green thread

Safety pin

1. Cut out the rose template on the left and draw around it onto the square of white felt. Draw around the leaf template on the green felt. Cut both felt shapes out.
2. Curl the white felt shape around your finger, starting from the outside end, working your way in. Apply felt glue onto the little circle in the middle and stick your curled rose down onto this.
3. Thread your needle with the green thread and sew your safety pin onto the back of the green felt leaves.
4. Apply more felt glue to the back of your white rose shape and stick it to the felt leaves - the side without the safety pin on.
